

Service Users and Carers as Partners in the Curriculum: an interactive staff development day

Tuesday 16 May, 2006

Clinical Skills Centre, Coach Lane Campus

This agenda should concern us all as involvement of service users and carers in the curriculum is a central requirement, but more than that, it aims to make what we do better. This event will give you ideas about involving service users in your teaching and research. You will be able to learn from the good practice of colleagues and service users working together, and hear about resources being developed to help you 'get involved with involvement'.

- Thought-provoking drama from 'Old Spice'
- Same agenda, different perspectives – student, service user, academic and administrator view points
- Choice of workshops in which academic and research colleagues and service users showcase their joint work and give you the opportunity to ask questions.
- Opportunity to view developments in the Northumbria University Narrative Archive
- Meet colleagues from other parts of the University, CETL4HealthNE partners, Trust Patient and Public Involvement Leads, and representatives from statutory and non-statutory organisations
- An information pack and certificate of attendance will be available.
